

Product Questions

How do I care for my wig?

Storing your wig

Comb it out after wearing and before you wear it.

Keep it's hair net on it when you're storing it if at all possible. If it is a long wig, carefully curl up the long tail and tuck it inside the hair net in a gentle curve. Don't twist it too tight or you'll accidentally style your wig.

Detangling your wig

We recommend a wide wire toothed comb or a spray detangler.

Just take one section at a time and carefully use the clips to get the rest of the hair out of the way. Lay the section against the flat table top.

Gently comb the bottom inch first and don't pull.

Once you have the bottom inch combed, move up and comb out the next inch so now you're combing two inches.

Keep adding an inch at a time, don't get impatient, you'll find that you comb the knots down lower. If it is a really bad area, like the back you may have to start back at that last inch again. However, it will go faster this time.

Once you have the whole section done, pin it up carefully and move to another section.

When all of the sections are done, unclip each section.

Unique solution ID: #1030

Author: Lex Dreitser

Last update: 2015-03-19 20:00